

THE WIVES WAR ROOM

Prayer

"...and let the wife see that she respects her husband."

Ephesians 5:33b NKJV

Father God, help change my perspective in areas I need to show better support and respect to my husband. Lord, my intent is not to tear him and/or his ideas down, but rather to lift him up and help him to dream bigger. Forgive me Lord, and may he forgive me and have patience with me. I want You to be in control Lord, not me, not (insert husband's name). I pray (insert husband's name) seek You, Your Word, Your Holy Spirit and I allow him to lead through You, Lord. Help me to guard my mouth and my thoughts so I am no longer the joy killer but instead am the one who helps bring about joy. Help change my perspective, Lord. Help change my husband's perspective as well in the things You know need changing. Lord, help me to let go of trying to control every situation, help me to express respect to my husband, help me to trust the work You are doing in his life and release him to You, Lord. In Jesus name I pray, amen.
